

CPL Jessie K. Fletcher, USMC

- CPL Jessie Fletcher, a United States Marine Scout Sniper, was 24 years young when he was injured in Afghanistan October 17, 2011.
- Born Upstate New York, was a child of the State and eventually raised by grandmother.
- Joined Marines from High School and among top graduates of Scout Sniper School.
- While conducting dismounted patrol, operating in the Southern Helmand province of Afghanistan, CPL Fletcher was injured by IED (Improvised Explosive Device)
- He is a double-amputee; both above the knee and lost several fingers on both hands.
- Recuperated at Walter Reed Hospital and learning to optimize his prosthetic legs since October 2011 and retire Dec 2012.
- He is married to Emily Ball.
- Jessie plays guitar, has complete college and is a successful businessman.
- CPL Fletcher continues to serve his country by inspiring others to be the best they can be.